

Alcohol Causes, Not Cures, Kidney Troubles.

EDWARD CURRY CURED OF PAINS IN HIS BACK AFTER ALL OTHER REMEDIES FAILED.

Aug. 21, 1903, Edward Curry, 13th and Greenup Sts., Covington, Ky., writes: "For many years I suffered periodically from severe pains in my back, interfering with my work, and causing considerable suffering. Many remedies failed to give relief. I tried Pettigill's Kidney-Wort Tablets, and since using them have had no recurrence of the pains, and feel much improved in health and spirits."

The kidneys give warning of their condition by complaint in other parts of the body. Pains, aching, stiffness, and weakness under the eyes lead to kidney disease. At the first backache examine your morning urine for cloudiness and redness of deposit. Thousands of persons beginning to feel the effects of ailing kidneys have saved themselves from Bright's disease by the prompt use of Kidney-Wort Tablets. Has your urine, your back, your general health led you to wonder if your kidneys are sound? Write Dr. Pettigill, Burlington, Vermont. Give him your symptoms. He will advise you free.

DR. PETTINGILL'S

Kidney-Wort Tablets

An Active Specific For Diabetes, Bright's Disease.

EXPLORER BALDWIN TO BE WITNESS.

Witness Mr. Crow That He Will Appear Before Grand Jury in November.

EIGHT PERSONS EXAMINED.

Asserted That Important Information Was Gleaned in Connection With the Albin Repeal Bill.

BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.

Jefferson City, Mo., Oct. 14.—Baking powder and general matters occupied the attention of the Grand Jury today.

Eight witnesses were examined, and it is said that important information was secured which may result materially in the trial of one man who, it is thought, will be indicted in connection with the defeat of the Albin repeal bill in the session of 1901.

Elmer Phillips of Kansas City, a former Representative, and who is said to have introduced J. W. Hess of Kansas City, an Albin looking powder man, to Senator Jesse L. Jewell, was in the Grand Jury room for a short while to tell of one or two times in connection with that incident. Phillips was before the Cole County Grand Jury at an early sitting.

Sam W. Fordyce, Jr., of St. Louis, a director in the Provident Chemical Company, was also a witness. He is acquainted with William F. Ziegler of New York City, the owner of the Royal Baking Powder Company. Colonel Fordyce, father of the witness, was before the Grand Jury a month ago.

KNOWLEDGE BEFORE JURY.

Dwight Knowlsey of Carrollton, a Representative in 1898, and who was chairman of the Calendar Committee, is supposed to have testified regarding the original Albin bill.

Four months ago, he told his friends that Senator William J. Stone had asked him to advance the bill on the docket. At that time it was known as a pure-food bill. Knowlsey told the Grand Jury, it is thought, that he was feeling his friends when he made the statement. His friends now do not profess to know just where he stands on the proposition.

Representative J. N. Gibson of Lee Branch, Charleston County, spent a short time with the Grand Jury. He was chairman of the Clerical Force Committee and was one of the six men to vote against the Albin bill.

Representative Morris of Schuyler, a member of the "Hot-Club" Investigation Committee, was a witness, presumably about the work of this committee and also about the minority senatorial caucus.

NO OFFERS OF MONEY.

Another representative member of the House, Amos B. Miller, was also here and asked about the caucus. So far no evidence of direct offers of money has been found.

The Republican members show a disposition to "come" their factional enemies with a hearty diligence that is familiar to those who have attended Republican nominating conventions and committee meetings. Representative H. D. Galt of Cooper (Dem.) testified a short time before the Grand Jury.

W. E. Whitcomb of Paris, a brother of Speaker James H. Whitcomb, was a witness. He was here about a month during the session of 1901.

"I came here for two reasons," he said this evening. "I had been sick and needed a rest, and I also wished to see the workings of a Legislature. My brother was a Speaker, and I thought it would be a good thing to combine the two. I regret

AMONG THE MAIL.

What a Railway Mail Clerk Found.

Strange tales are told of what men in the U. S. Railway Mail service sometimes find.

There was one clerk, hungry and down-hearted, who found a food hunt one night in the following way: "For months I suffered from chronic indigestion, my stomach was empty, and I was in a state of nervous prostration. I was in the habit of making a breakfast of coffee and pasty food accompanied by the free use of coffee and these combined to almost shatter my digestive organs."

I was employed in the Railway Mail service and assigned to duty on a night train. At the end of my run I bought a package, and nothing ever tasted better from that day I began to gain mentally and physically. I gained twelve pounds in two months on Grape-Nuts food and kept on steadily increasing my weight to 145 pounds."

"Grape-Nuts improved and steadied my brain and nerves so that I was able to pass my next examination with a good grade and soon got a promotion. It was changed to a daylight run; there is no doubt in the world that I owe my advance in position and improved health to the proper food, Grape-Nuts, in place of improper foods." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

There was a reason. Look in each package for a copy of the famous little book, "The Road to Wellville."

CARDINAL GIBBONS TO BE CELEBRANT.

America's Foremost Catholic Will Say Requiem Mass for Archbishop Kain in Old Cathedral.

PRIESTS GO TO BALTIMORE. Archbishop John J. Keane of Dubuque Invited to Deliver Sermon at Funeral, Which Will Take Place Wednesday.

Cardinal Gibbons will be the celebrant at the pontifical solemn high mass of requiem for Archbishop Kain in the old cathedral, Third and Walnut streets, at 10 o'clock next Wednesday morning.

Yesterday morning Archbishop J. J. Keane sent a telegram to the Cardinal asking that he celebrate the mass and preach the sermon. An immediate reply from Cardinal Gibbons came, saying: "I will pontificate."

Archbishop John J. Keane, Dubuque, Ia., was then invited to preach the sermon. Up to late last night no response had come in the message sent him, but it is thought that he will accept.

Cardinal Gibbons and Archbishop Keane went to school together and have been the closest of friends since. Many times the Cardinal visited the Archbishop on Lindell avenue, the last time being at the dedication of the World's Fair. He was who induced the Archbishop to go to the Baltimore sanitarium. He visited him there, and before going to Rome to take part in the election of Pope Pius X. bade him farewell, thinking perhaps it might be the last time the two would see each other alive.

Upon returning to America the Cardinal went again to see Archbishop Kain, and was with him last week and this week up to the time of his death. The Cardinal was the last person the Archbishop recognized.

Archbishop Keane is known as one of the foremost leaders of the Catholic Church in America. He was formerly rector of the Catholic University of Washington, D. C., being at the same time Bishop of the diocese of Baltimore. He preached the solemn mass at the funeral of the late Archbishop Kain in this city.

At a meeting of the Catholic clergy of St. Louis in Kenrick Seminary yesterday afternoon lay extraordinary arrangements for the funeral were made.

Archbishop Keane asked that several St. Louis pastors go to Baltimore to accompany the body to that city, and twelve priests volunteered.

They are Father O'Reilly, Father McDonnell, Father Hoffman, Father Fenlon, Father Reilly, Father Thos. Father Tracy, Father Hollock, Father O'Rourke, and Father Dempsey. They will depart for Baltimore at 9 o'clock to-night.

BODY MAY ARRIVE MONDAY.

It is not definitely known when the body will return to St. Louis, but probably Monday night at the latest. The funeral party will be met at the station by the clergy and committees of laymen, and the body taken either to the archiepiscopal residence at No. 230 Lindell avenue, or to the Old Cathedral.

The body will be taken to the Lindell residence, where it will be held until the morning of the funeral.

The Cardinal's body will be taken to the Lindell residence, where it will be held until the morning of the funeral.

The Cardinal's body will be taken to the Lindell residence, where it will be held until the morning of the funeral.

The Cardinal's body will be taken to the Lindell residence, where it will be held until the morning of the funeral.

The Cardinal's body will be taken to the Lindell residence, where it will be held until the morning of the funeral.

The Cardinal's body will be taken to the Lindell residence, where it will be held until the morning of the funeral.

The Cardinal's body will be taken to the Lindell residence, where it will be held until the morning of the funeral.

The Cardinal's body will be taken to the Lindell residence, where it will be held until the morning of the funeral.

The Cardinal's body will be taken to the Lindell residence, where it will be held until the morning of the funeral.

The Cardinal's body will be taken to the Lindell residence, where it will be held until the morning of the funeral.

The Cardinal's body will be taken to the Lindell residence, where it will be held until the morning of the funeral.

The Cardinal's body will be taken to the Lindell residence, where it will be held until the morning of the funeral.

The Cardinal's body will be taken to the Lindell residence, where it will be held until the morning of the funeral.

The Cardinal's body will be taken to the Lindell residence, where it will be held until the morning of the funeral.

The Cardinal's body will be taken to the Lindell residence, where it will be held until the morning of the funeral.

The Cardinal's body will be taken to the Lindell residence, where it will be held until the morning of the funeral.

The Cardinal's body will be taken to the Lindell residence, where it will be held until the morning of the funeral.

The Cardinal's body will be taken to the Lindell residence, where it will be held until the morning of the funeral.

The Cardinal's body will be taken to the Lindell residence, where it will be held until the morning of the funeral.

"INTEREST PEOPLE IN NATION'S GOOD."

Former President Cleveland Of Fers Solution for Evils Due to Corrupt Politics.

MAKES SPEECH AT CHICAGO. Warmly Greeted by Members of Commercial Club on Occasion of His First Visit to the City in Eight Years.

Chicago, Oct. 14.—"Give to our people something that will concentrate their common affections and unite their efforts and let that be their country's good; give them a purpose that stimulates them to unite in lofty endeavor—and let that purpose be a demonstration of the efficiency and beneficence of our popular rule."

These were the words uttered by former President Grover Cleveland as he addressed the members of the Commercial Club at their annual banquet, given at the Auditorium Hotel to-night. The subject discussed by Mr. Cleveland was "American Good Citizenship," and he dwelt at length on the necessity of every citizen doing his part to make political action what it should be.

This is the first time in eight years that Mr. Cleveland has visited Chicago, and he received an enthusiastic reception by the two lampreys whose he appeared at the speaker's table. He said, in part:

"There is abroad in our land a self-satisfied and perfunctory notion that we do all that is required of us in this direction when we make profession of our faith in the creed of good citizenship and abstain from the commission of palpably unlawful acts. It is not enough to profess a belief in a sort of self-righteous contentment, which leads us to quite well under the direction of those who make political activity their occupation. For ourselves, we are good, quiet, respectable and law-abiding citizens, and we are not politicians. We ought not to be badgered and annoyed by the preaching and exhortations of a restless, troublesome set of men who continually urge upon us the duty of an active participation in public affairs."

"Why should we be charged with neglect of political obligations? We go to the polls on election day, when not too busy with other things, and vote the ticket of our choice. We are good citizens, and we are not politicians. We ought not to be badgered and annoyed by the preaching and exhortations of a restless, troublesome set of men who continually urge upon us the duty of an active participation in public affairs."

"The Four Millions, European gymnasts and acrobats of extraordinary strength, are headlamps at the Columbus.

Unlucky, Sawdust and Gully, in their one-act play, "The Southwestern," played at the Columbus.

The story of Fred E. Wright's "The Beauty Doctor," the newest of the musical comedies, which is to be seen at the Grand next week, is a broad satire on the beauty-culture fad. The chief character is a young man, who is so vain that he is able to make the old young and the young handsome by means of his medical science and his system of physical culture.

The tribulations of her patients and her efforts to make good her claims are added to afford much good fun. The musical comedy comes when the beauty doctor is in the hands of a young woman, who is so vain that she is able to make the old young and the young handsome by means of his medical science and his system of physical culture.

The Four Millions, European gymnasts and acrobats of extraordinary strength, are headlamps at the Columbus.

Unlucky, Sawdust and Gully, in their one-act play, "The Southwestern," played at the Columbus.

The story of Fred E. Wright's "The Beauty Doctor," the newest of the musical comedies, which is to be seen at the Grand next week, is a broad satire on the beauty-culture fad. The chief character is a young man, who is so vain that he is able to make the old young and the young handsome by means of his medical science and his system of physical culture.

The tribulations of her patients and her efforts to make good her claims are added to afford much good fun. The musical comedy comes when the beauty doctor is in the hands of a young woman, who is so vain that she is able to make the old young and the young handsome by means of his medical science and his system of physical culture.

The Four Millions, European gymnasts and acrobats of extraordinary strength, are headlamps at the Columbus.

Unlucky, Sawdust and Gully, in their one-act play, "The Southwestern," played at the Columbus.

The story of Fred E. Wright's "The Beauty Doctor," the newest of the musical comedies, which is to be seen at the Grand next week, is a broad satire on the beauty-culture fad. The chief character is a young man, who is so vain that he is able to make the old young and the young handsome by means of his medical science and his system of physical culture.

The tribulations of her patients and her efforts to make good her claims are added to afford much good fun. The musical comedy comes when the beauty doctor is in the hands of a young woman, who is so vain that she is able to make the old young and the young handsome by means of his medical science and his system of physical culture.

The Four Millions, European gymnasts and acrobats of extraordinary strength, are headlamps at the Columbus.

Unlucky, Sawdust and Gully, in their one-act play, "The Southwestern," played at the Columbus.

The story of Fred E. Wright's "The Beauty Doctor," the newest of the musical comedies, which is to be seen at the Grand next week, is a broad satire on the beauty-culture fad. The chief character is a young man, who is so vain that he is able to make the old young and the young handsome by means of his medical science and his system of physical culture.

The tribulations of her patients and her efforts to make good her claims are added to afford much good fun. The musical comedy comes when the beauty doctor is in the hands of a young woman, who is so vain that she is able to make the old young and the young handsome by means of his medical science and his system of physical culture.

The Four Millions, European gymnasts and acrobats of extraordinary strength, are headlamps at the Columbus.

Unlucky, Sawdust and Gully, in their one-act play, "The Southwestern," played at the Columbus.

The story of Fred E. Wright's "The Beauty Doctor," the newest of the musical comedies, which is to be seen at the Grand next week, is a broad satire on the beauty-culture fad. The chief character is a young man, who is so vain that he is able to make the old young and the young handsome by means of his medical science and his system of physical culture.

The tribulations of her patients and her efforts to make good her claims are added to afford much good fun. The musical comedy comes when the beauty doctor is in the hands of a young woman, who is so vain that she is able to make the old young and the young handsome by means of his medical science and his system of physical culture.

The Four Millions, European gymnasts and acrobats of extraordinary strength, are headlamps at the Columbus.

Unlucky, Sawdust and Gully, in their one-act play, "The Southwestern," played at the Columbus.

The story of Fred E. Wright's "The Beauty Doctor," the newest of the musical comedies, which is to be seen at the Grand next week, is a broad satire on the beauty-culture fad. The chief character is a young man, who is so vain that he is able to make the old young and the young handsome by means of his medical science and his system of physical culture.

The tribulations of her patients and her efforts to make good her claims are added to afford much good fun. The musical comedy comes when the beauty doctor is in the hands of a young woman, who is so vain that she is able to make the old young and the young handsome by means of his medical science and his system of physical culture.

The Four Millions, European gymnasts and acrobats of extraordinary strength, are headlamps at the Columbus.

"INTEREST PEOPLE IN NATION'S GOOD."

Former President Cleveland Of Fers Solution for Evils Due to Corrupt Politics.

MAKES SPEECH AT CHICAGO. Warmly Greeted by Members of Commercial Club on Occasion of His First Visit to the City in Eight Years.

Chicago, Oct. 14.—"Give to our people something that will concentrate their common affections and unite their efforts and let that be their country's good; give them a purpose that stimulates them to unite in lofty endeavor—and let that purpose be a demonstration of the efficiency and beneficence of our popular rule."

These were the words uttered by former President Grover Cleveland as he addressed the members of the Commercial Club at their annual banquet, given at the Auditorium Hotel to-night. The subject discussed by Mr. Cleveland was "American Good Citizenship," and he dwelt at length on the necessity of every citizen doing his part to make political action what it should be.

This is the first time in eight years that Mr. Cleveland has visited Chicago, and he received an enthusiastic reception by the two lampreys whose he appeared at the speaker's table. He said, in part:

"There is abroad in our land a self-satisfied and perfunctory notion that we do all that is required of us in this direction when we make profession of our faith in the creed of good citizenship and abstain from the commission of palpably unlawful acts. It is not enough to profess a belief in a sort of self-righteous contentment, which leads us to quite well under the direction of those who make political activity their occupation. For ourselves, we are good, quiet, respectable and law-abiding citizens, and we are not politicians. We ought not to be badgered and annoyed by the preaching and exhortations of a restless, troublesome set of men who continually urge upon us the duty of an active participation in public affairs."

"Why should we be charged with neglect of political obligations? We go to the polls on election day, when not too busy with other things, and vote the ticket of our choice. We are good citizens, and we are not politicians. We ought not to be badgered and annoyed by the preaching and exhortations of a restless, troublesome set of men who continually urge upon us the duty of an active participation in public affairs."

"The Four Millions, European gymnasts and acrobats of extraordinary strength, are headlamps at the Columbus.

Unlucky, Sawdust and Gully, in their one-act play, "The Southwestern," played at the Columbus.

The story of Fred E. Wright's "The Beauty Doctor," the newest of the musical comedies, which is to be seen at the Grand next week, is a broad satire on the beauty-culture fad. The chief character is a young man, who is so vain that he is able to make the old young and the young handsome by means of his medical science and his system of physical culture.

The tribulations of her patients and her efforts to make good her claims are added to afford much good fun. The musical comedy comes when the beauty doctor is in the hands of a young woman, who is so vain that she is able to make the old young and the young handsome by means of his medical science and his system of physical culture.

The Four Millions, European gymnasts and acrobats of extraordinary strength, are headlamps at the Columbus.

Unlucky, Sawdust and Gully, in their one-act play, "The Southwestern," played at the Columbus.

The story of Fred E. Wright's "The Beauty Doctor," the newest of the musical comedies, which is to be seen at the Grand next week, is a broad satire on the beauty-culture fad. The chief character is a young man, who is so vain that he is able to make the old young and the young handsome by means of his medical science and his system of physical culture.

The tribulations of her patients and her efforts to make good her claims are added to afford much good fun. The musical comedy comes when the beauty doctor is in the hands of a young woman, who is so vain that she is able to make the old young and the young handsome by means of his medical science and his system of physical culture.

The Four Millions, European gymnasts and acrobats of extraordinary strength, are headlamps at the Columbus.

Unlucky, Sawdust and Gully, in their one-act play, "The Southwestern," played at the Columbus.

The story of Fred E. Wright's "The Beauty Doctor," the newest of the musical comedies, which is to be seen at the Grand next week, is a broad satire on the beauty-culture fad. The chief character is a young man, who is so vain that he is able to make the old young and the young handsome by means of his medical science and his system of physical culture.

The tribulations of her patients and her efforts to make good her claims are added to afford much good fun. The musical comedy comes when the beauty doctor is in the hands of a young woman, who is so vain that she is able to make the old young and the young handsome by means of his medical science and his system of physical culture.

The Four Millions, European gymnasts and acrobats of extraordinary strength, are headlamps at the Columbus.

Unlucky, Sawdust and Gully, in their one-act play, "The Southwestern," played at the Columbus.

The story of Fred E. Wright's "The Beauty Doctor," the newest of the musical comedies, which is to be seen at the Grand next week, is a broad satire on the beauty-culture fad. The chief character is a young man, who is so vain that he is able to make the old young and the young handsome by means of his medical science and his system of physical culture.

The tribulations of her patients and her efforts to make good her claims are added to afford much good fun. The musical comedy comes when the beauty doctor is in the hands of a young woman, who is so vain that she is able to make the old young and the young handsome by means of his medical science and his system of physical culture.

The Four Millions, European gymnasts and acrobats of extraordinary strength, are headlamps at the Columbus.

Unlucky, Sawdust and Gully, in their one-act play, "The Southwestern," played at the Columbus.

The story of Fred E. Wright's "The Beauty Doctor," the newest of the musical comedies, which is to be seen at the Grand next week, is a broad satire on the beauty-culture fad. The chief character is a young man, who is so vain that he is able to make the old young and the young handsome by means of his medical science and his system of physical culture.

The tribulations of her patients and her efforts to make good her claims are added to afford much good fun. The musical comedy comes when the beauty doctor is in the hands of a young woman, who is so vain that she is able to make the old young and the young handsome by means of his medical science and his system of physical culture.

The Four Millions, European gymnasts and acrobats of extraordinary strength, are headlamps at the Columbus.

Unlucky, Sawdust and Gully, in their one-act play, "The Southwestern," played at the Columbus.

The story of Fred E. Wright's "The Beauty Doctor," the newest of the musical comedies, which is to be seen at the Grand next week, is a broad satire on the beauty-culture fad. The chief character is a young man, who is so vain that he is able to make the old young and the young handsome by means of his medical science and his system of physical culture.

The tribulations of her patients and her efforts to make good her claims are added to afford much good fun. The musical comedy comes when the beauty doctor is in the hands of a young woman, who is so vain that she is able to make the old young and the young handsome by means of his medical science and his system of physical culture.

The Four Millions, European gymnasts and acrobats of extraordinary strength, are headlamps at the Columbus.

Simmons Hardware Co.

Broadway Store.

To-Day Is the Second Day of the Fall Opening.

The Decorated Dinner, Reception and Wedding Table Exhibition in The China Store

Will be continued to-day. If you could not come yesterday, come to-day, for you must not fail to see this beautiful display, representing as it does the authentic modes in table dressing for this season.

The flowers will be renewed and there will be music all day by Weil's Orchestra.

Will be continued to-day. If you could not come yesterday, come to-day, for you must not fail to see this beautiful display, representing as it does the authentic modes in table dressing for this season.

The flowers will be renewed and there will be music all day by Weil's Orchestra.

Simmons Hardware Co.

STANDARD ASBESTOS ROOFING

Lasts a Lifetime and Makes

FIRE-PROOF ROOFS

CAN BE APPLIED OVER OLD SHINGLES OR TIN ROOFS

H. W. JOHNS-MANVILLE COMPANY,

WM. A. BUDDECKE, Manager. 914-16-18 N. BROADWAY.

Asbestos and Magnesia Steam Pipe and Boiler Coverings. All kinds of Asbestos Specialties.

BABCOCK SUIT AGAIN UP.

Asks $50,000 for Ejection From Chamber of Commerce.

The damage suit of Austin E. Babcock against the Merchants' Exchange is again on trial in Clayton. The case was called yesterday before Judge McElhinney, and will be finished to-day.

Babcock asks for $50,000 damages, $25,000 of which is actual loss and $25,000 punitive. The plaintiff is a broker in St. Louis, and has been in litigation over his suit against the Merchants' Exchange for the last seven years. The difficulty was started by the death of the defendant, who was killed by a train on the St. Louis and North Western railroad.

Babcock asks for $50,000 damages, $25,000 of which is actual loss and $25,000 punitive. The plaintiff is a broker in St. Louis, and has been in litigation over his suit against the Merchants' Exchange for the last seven years. The difficulty was started by the death of the defendant, who was killed by a train on the St. Louis and North Western railroad.

Babcock asks for $50,000 damages, $25,000 of which is actual loss and $25,000 punitive. The plaintiff is a broker in St. Louis, and has been in litigation over his suit against the Merchants' Exchange for the last seven years. The difficulty was started by the death of the defendant, who was killed by a train on the St. Louis and North Western railroad.

Babcock asks for $50,000 damages, $25,000 of which is actual loss and $25,000 punitive. The plaintiff is a broker in St. Louis, and has been in litigation over his suit against the Merchants' Exchange for the last seven years. The difficulty was started by the death of the defendant, who was killed by a train on the St. Louis and North Western railroad.

Babcock asks for $50,000 damages, $25,000 of which is actual loss and $25,000 punitive. The plaintiff is a broker in St. Louis, and has been in litigation over his suit against the Merchants' Exchange for the last seven years. The difficulty was started by the death of the defendant, who was killed by a train on the St. Louis and North Western railroad.

Babcock asks for $50,000 damages, $25,000 of which is actual loss and $25,000 punitive. The plaintiff is a broker in St. Louis, and has been in litigation over his suit against the Merchants' Exchange for the last seven years. The difficulty was started by the death of the defendant, who was killed by a train on the St. Louis and North Western railroad.

Babcock asks for $50,000 damages, $25,000 of which is actual loss and $25,000 punitive. The plaintiff is a broker in St. Louis, and has been in litigation over his suit against the Merchants' Exchange for the last seven years. The difficulty was started by the death of the defendant, who was killed by a train on the St. Louis and North Western railroad.

Babcock asks for $50,000 damages, $25,000 of which is actual loss and $25,000 punitive. The plaintiff is a broker in St. Louis, and has been in litigation over his suit against the Merchants' Exchange for the last seven years. The difficulty was started by the death of the defendant, who was killed by a train